Ministry Spotlight

Foundry Groups

F o u n d r y G r o u p s

Galatians 6:1-2, Dear brothers and sisters, if another believer is overcome by some sin, you who are godly should gently and humbly help that person back onto the right path. And be careful not to fall into the same temptation yourself. Share each other's burdens, and in this way obey the law of Christ.

How do we watch over one another in love and bear each other's burdens in the fight against sin?

Where can we go to talk about the struggles in our Christian walk and find brothers and/or sisters to help us find victory over the enemy?

Where is a place where I can share where God is leading me?

Our Foundry groups are designed to help in this place.
Groups are intentionally kept small so more people feel comfortable sharing.
It is a place where we can help one another in living out the commands of Scripture and support one another living the life Christ has called us to.

We invite you to talk to one of our Foundry group leaders and find a group to join at the church.

Psalm 107:1, Give thanks to the LORD, for he is good! His faithful love endures forever. Has the LORD redeemed you? Then speak out! Tell others he has redeemed you from your enemies. For he has gathered the exiles from many lands, from east and west, from north and south.

The negativity in our world is often striking to me. People always seem to find something wrong in situations. As humans, it seems like if we can't find something wrong with a situation, then we will create something. I say this while admitting I have always seen myself as a glass half empty sort of person.

Some people say this negativity bias is a survival instinct that people have. Others might think of it as a result of past negative experiences. From a spiritual point of view, we might see this as a result of the fall of humanity or as spiritual attack. Regardless of the reason, God has called us to be people who "rejoice always," "pray with thanksgiving," and "shout for joy to the Lord." Rejoicing and thanksgiving are imperatives. God does not demand our thanksgiving and praise, because He selfishly wants the accolades. He demands it because He wants us to be thankful and joyful people.

I demand that my children say thank you not only because they need to be polite, but they need to say thank you to learn to appreciate things. God tells His children to give thanks and rejoice because He wants us to appreciate what we have, to rejoice in order to be joy filled people. There is nothing wrong with being joyful and glad. In fact, there is something very right about it. It is what god created us to be and it is the way we reflect His image.

God looked at creation and saw that it was good. The prophet Zephaniah said, "For the LORD your God is living among you. He is a mighty savior. He will take delight in you with gladness. With his love, he will calm all your fears. He will rejoice over you with joyful songs (Zep 3:17)." Isaiah 62:5 says, "Your children will commit themselves to you, O Jerusalem, just as a young man commits himself to his bride. Then God will rejoice over you as a bridegroom rejoices over his bride." The Lord rejoices and it is why one of the fruit of the Spirit is joy.

The Scriptures tell us there are times of feasting in the life of God's people. They tell us there are reasons for our celebration and rejoicing. It is good for God's people to celebrate, rejoice, and give thanks for what He has done. It is certainly a way to stick out in the world. If you want your neighbors to see God's character in you and notice something different about you, why not make it for being the most thankful and joyful person they know.

The actions of thanksgiving and rejoicing help instill that characteristic in our hearts. So over the coming month take time to be thankful. Maybe try to make a list of all the things you are thankful for. You could pick a new thing each day between now and Thanksgiving to give thanks and praise God for. Maybe over the next month you could just take time to sing a lot with a different hymn or song of praise each day. Find little things to thank someone for each day and share your praises. Tell others how God has redeemed you. Let this coming month be a real time of growing, joy, gladness, and thanksgiving into your character as part of growing in holiness and becoming more like Christ.

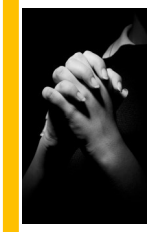

Our Men's prayer breakfast is held the Last Saturday of each month.
